DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1, 19, and 21 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

2. The indicated allowability of claim 21 is withdrawn in view of a reevaluation of the reference(s) to Kirilloff (USPN 3,895,264) and Lycan (USPN 4,737,603). Rejections based on the reference(s) follow.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1, 19-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kirilloff (USPN 3,895,264) in view of Lycan (USPN 4,737,603).

Regarding claims 1, 19, 20, Kirilloff discloses a safety switching apparatus comprises a control configuration (such as 35, 44) for selectively linking and de-linking the voltage lines (voltage lines 1, 2, 3) to and from the device (device 11); a controller (35) for controlling the control configuration. Kirilloff does not disclose a ground configuration as claimed. Lycan teaches a ground configuration (such as isolation switch 32 shown in fig. 21) for short-circuiting the input nodes (the input nodes of motor) to ground when the voltage lines are de-linked from the device (as circuit breaker 30 is opened due to a fault col. 4, lines 48-60). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the circuit of Kirilloff to incorporate the isolation switch as disclosed by Lycan in order to protect circuits from hazardous conditions (col. 1, lines 45-50, col. 2, lines 19-23).

Regarding claim 21, Kirilloff discloses a method for grounding detection circuit comprises determining when the device isolation has been detected (e.g. the device 11 is isolated as ground fault is detected), monitoring the grounding conductor if the conductor is ungrounded, indicating the ungrounded condition as a indicator (e.g. col. 4, lines 2-30). Kirilloff does not disclose grounding the supply lines as claimed. Lycan teaches grounding the supply lines (such as isolation switch 32 is grounding the input nodes LD1-LD3 of the motor to ground as circuit breaker 30 is opened due to a fault shown in fig. 21). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the circuit of Kirilloff to incorporate the isolation switch as disclosed by Lycan in order to protect circuits from hazardous conditions (col. 1, lines 45-50, col. 2, lines 19-23).

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 2-18, 22 are allowed.
